

Recognizer contract

Two model paths expose the same three intent events.

Takeaway: model capacity changes, but the control-facing event interface does not.